

The following is a comprehensive list of public schools – listed alphabetically by their district – that reflects their current reentry model. Some counties listed in the “red” were previously “green,” allowing their districts to be eligible for reentry. A dip from green to red on the health map does not necessarily indicate an immediate school closure. Public Schools in New Mexico may be eligible to bring Elementary students back for in-person learning, if they meet the reentry requirements. Middle and High School students are not currently allowed to attend in-person learning (with the exception of special education small groups).

Remote: Schools are operating in a distance-learning stance. Students and staff are not expected to come into the building (unless staff is performing an essential, in-person duty).

Small Groups: Schools are primarily operating in a distance-learning stance. The school is remote, but bringing in either K-3rd graders or Special Education students (of all ages) for small group instruction, adhering to the 5:1 student-to-staff ration and maintaining social distancing.

Hybrid: Schools are operating at 50% capacity, alternating student cohorts so that all students have access to in-person learning, if they so choose. Families who select online-only options may continue their child's distance learning during the hybrid stance.

Full: Some schools – those considered “micro-districts” and approved by PED – may have transitioned to full, in-person learning. This assumes they can maintain small group ratios as well as social distancing, while maximizing in-person learning.
